City staff will recommend no new sewage plant

■ Southport sewage plant appears out; staff will recommend city either expands existing plant or ships its sewage to Sacramento

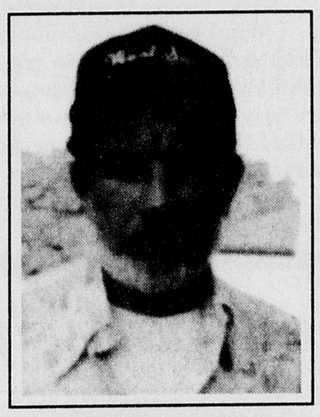
By Steve Marschke

A Thursday evening meeting with 40-50 members of the public left one thing pretty clear:

Barring new circumstances, or a surprise action by the city council, West Sacramento will not build a new sewage treatment plant in Southport, or probably anywhere else in the city.

"I feel very good that the community had a voice in the direction of what the city is doing," said resident John Gabri, who had joined his south area neighbors in protest against a new plant almost two years ago. "I feel as though justice has been done."

The city had originally planned to build a new sewage plant in the Gregory Ave. area



JOHN GABRI
Citizen activist

of Southport, in the city's rural southern half. The area was chosen partly because of the availability of land and partly because of its low elevation, which reduces pumping requirements while bringing sewage in from other parts of the city.

Gabri and his fellow "Concerned Citizens of West Sacramento" opposed the idea of a sewage plant as a new neighbor.

"We want to see the city grow, but in an orderly way," he added. "We prefer to go to (the regional Sacramento plant). It makes better sense for somebody else who is experienced in the field, and who is already operating a sewage treatment plant in an orderly fashion to take over what has been a problem (for West Sacramento) in the past."

Community Department planner Steve Rikala said public testimony against a new plant in Southport has been loud and clear.

"Based on public comment, staff is going to recommend only two alternatives," said Rikala. "They will be either (contracting with) Sacramento or upgrading the South River Road plant."

Rikala said there was "basically no support" for building a new plant in West Sacramento, even at a location such as the Southport Industrial Park.

"The costs are not lower than the other alternatives, and I think the main concerns we saw expressed at the first meetings regarded local impacts to neighbors -- odor, aesthetics, light, and glare. The prevailing winds would blow odors to nearby areas."

Some kind of facility expansion or construction is said by city staff to be necessary to handle future city growth. Cost figures are still being pinned down, but thus far, there is no clearly cheaper alternative among those being viewed, said Rikala.

If West Sacramento contracts with Sacramento for sewage treatment at Sacramento's regional plant, Sacramento hopes to work a twist into the deal:

"As a condition to our annexation, they are requiring a condition of working with us on running their Natomas pipeline through West Sacramento," Rikala said.

The pipeline would carry sewage from Sacramento's "Natomas" area to its regional plant, and Sacramento believes it would be cheaper to route this pipeline through West Sacramento than through Sacramento's downtown.

City councilmen Mark Montemayor and Christopher Cabaldon attended Thursday's meeting.

Montemayor became involved in local politics almost two years ago when the plans to build the new sewage plant became widely known, and was an early advocate against it while still a private citizen.

"The most astounding thing about (the meeting) was it eliminated Southport from consideration of having a sewage plant,"

CHRISTOPHER CABALDON
City councilman

he said Tuesday. "The thing I'm looking forward to as a city council member is the two options presented to us will be hooking up to Sacramento or expanding the South River Road plant."

Blocking a new plant from being constructed near rural southern homes was "one of my root issues," he added. "That's one of the issues that made me

City agrees to pay $217,000 in settlement

■ Settlement amount to be split between legal fees and riverfront restoration

By Steve Marschke

The city of West Sacramento has settled a lawsuit brought by the California Sportfishermen's Association.

Although not all particulars of the settlement were available, the agreement was apparently reached late last year in response to the wastewater-related charges brought by the fishermen's group. State law allows private entities to sue governments for any water quality violations not addressed by regulatory groups, and the lawsuit involved problems at the city's South River Road sewage treatment plant which remained outside the enforcement actions of state regulators.

State regulators have fined West Sacramento several hundred thousand dollars over the past few years for sewage and reporting violations.

The city has agreed to pay about $217,000 to settle the fishermen's group lawsuit. About $117,000 of that will pay the group's legal expenses, and the remaining $100,000 will go into an environmental fund, said Larry von Kaenel, assistant to West Sacramento's city manager, Joe Goeden.

"That $100,000 will be used for riparian (riverfront land) restoration, so about half of this money is coming back into the community for this purpose," said von Kaenel.

Volunteers sought for tree planting party on Saturday at the site of former Salud Clinic

Give a hand, grab a shovel, and greet your neighbors as the City of West Sacramento plants a new tree grove! The public is invited to participate in the planting of 80 trees at the site of the former Salud Clinic, Saturday, February 22, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. The City of West Sacramento acquired the trees for the purpose of beautifying the Third and C Street site, as well as developing a grove for replacement of other city trees.

The new trees were selected for their adaptability to local soil and climate conditions. Valley Oaks, Western Sycamore, Oregon Ash and Magnolia are the types to be planted. They're included in the design of the riverfront park and will be available for replacement of diseased or damaged trees.

The tree planting is also a fresh start for the former Salud Clinic, which the city acquired from Yolo County after county services relocated to the new County Facilities Center on Triangle Court. After determining reuse of the Salud structures was not feasible, the city elected to clear the site for future redevelopment. It was also discovered that the existing elm trees on the site had become diseased, damaged and dangerous, and required removal.

The city will provide tools and refreshments for those helping in the community tree planting. Volunteers are requested to bring gloves.

In the event of a postponement because of weather, the make-up date will be March 1. For more information, call City Parks and Community Services at 373-5860.

Meet Helen Thomson

■ Meet your new assembly representative: Helen Thomson will be in West Sacramento for a public reception at 6:00 p.m.

In her first official visit to West Sacramento as its new 8th District State Assemblyperson, Helen Thomson of Davis will be at West Sacramento's city council chambers for a public reception tonight (Feb. 19) at 6 p.m.

The Democrat replaces fellow Democrat Tom Hannigan of Fairfield, who stepped down from the assembly post last year. Thomson defeated a Republican candidate in the November, 1996, election to win the seat. She had previously been a Yolo County supervisor, but resigned upon winning the assembly seat.

Class size workshop —

The Washington Unified School District will hold a special public workshop at 6:00 p.m. tonight to discuss how to implement the state's class size reduction program for grades K-3.

The meeting is intended to give members of the public a chance to ask questions on the issues involved. The state has made available partial funding to reduce school class sizes to 20 pupils per teacher in lower grades, but the school district has issues including the hiring of teachers and the purchase of supplies facilities to deal with in implementing the change.

The meeting will be held tonight in the library of R.C.H.S.

City planners okay Lighthouse agreement, including deal to accept title to 42 acre parcel

West Sacramento's planning commission approved a new deal on Feb. 6 with the Lighthouse Marina project along the city's northeastern riverfront -- including tentative approval to receive 42 acres of riverfront land for public use, in exchange for alleviating some development expenses the project would otherwise have to pay.

City officials hope to "land bank" the property until it can be developed -- perhaps in a public/private development project that could include parks and office buildings. The planning commission's approval is meant as a recommendation to the city council, which has the final say on the deal.

"We asked them to review the environmental issues," commissioner Charles Moore said Tuesday. City staff is preparing an environmental assessment on the property, which will require the removal of an underground storage tank and at least two 55-gallon drums.

The commission recommended that the council not approve the land acquisition until the exact nature of the environmental cleanup is known, Moore said.

Few of the costs involved in public ownership of the land have been quantified, he added. Staff said it is impossible to foresee all the costs of maintaining and insuring the land while it waits for development.

"We approved a pig in a poke," Moore said. "It will take $33,000 off the annual tax rolls, but beyond that, we couldn't get into any of the other specific costs."

Bank closes local branch, expands presence in market

Customers of the West Sacramento branch of Wells Fargo Bank, located at West Capitol Ave. and Jefferson Blvd., have been notified that their branch will be closing. To some degree replacing it, however, will be an expanded version of an in-store Wells Fargo branch at the Raley's grocery store on West Capitol.

The closure is effective May 9.

Wells Fargo customers in West Sacramentowill find their closest "traditional" bank branch is now in downtown Sacramento.

West Sacramento remains served by a variety of other branches, including US Bank and Bank of America, both within a block of the current Wells Fargo location.

Merchandise lust: gotta have that hat

T. J. Smoot

I spied them on row 21A. It became one of those love affairs that you have with things. You know what I mean, you see something. Then it becomes an obsession. You want it, no matter what. You "need" it. Life would be "so much easier/better/happier" if you just could own this, this, THING.

I remembered once I had such an obsession. I was at a hardware store and saw a set of screwdriver heads that come complete with a snazzy holder. "My, wouldn't that be a handy thing," said me to myself. "Look, it comes with a snazzy holder. It would fit right into my workshop." Little did it matter that my 100 sq. ft. workshop was already packed with lawn mower, wheelbarrow, cement bags, fertilizer, and wood of all shapes and sizes. My workbench was no better. It was a pyramid of tools that had previously hung on the wall but now created a pile, covering my workbench and peaking about a foot from the surface. Heaven help me if I needed the pipe wrench at the bottom of the pile.

Well, I made my amorous desire known to Mrs. Smoot, and she obediently purchased this most precious object of desire for my birthday last August. I promptly stuck it on the shelf in the laundry room. The screwdriver bits are still unopened in their snazzy little holder inside the plastic wrap.

Even though I knew how "things" would grab my heart and not let go, even though I occasionally saw my screwdriver bits on the shelf in the laundry room which reminded me of my foible, even though I fancy myself "smarter than the average bear," but I still wanted that thing on Row 21A. It was a primal thing. And we all know that you don't mess with primal things. I went through the usual procedure and told Mrs. Smoot that I wanted it, especially since Christmas was quickly approaching.

"A hat?"

"Yes. I need one."

"What kind of hat?"

"Oh, it's kind of like an Indiana Jones hat."

"Oooooo. Nice."

"Yes. I need one."

So we went together to Row 21A. I found one that matched my psyche and head size and plopped it smartly on my head, tags still hanging from the leather band. I felt particularly suave, in a 1940-ish kind of way. As we walked through the store to finish our purchases, something was different.

Women in the store were staring at me.

I remember this one 50-ish women in particular. She floated toward me as if in a trance. Did I remind her of a beau of decades past? Did I look like her dad? Did she think I was going to walk out of the store without paying for my hat?

Suddenly, I felt special.

Obviously, my newfound image from Row 21A was making an impact...or maybe it was the tags hanging from my hat. At any rate, more people began noticing me. I was hip. I was hop. I was bee-bop embodied. I finally had an identity. Was I Bing Crosby? Jack Webb? Indiana Jones? Yes. All of them wrapped up in one retro-ish topper which made me a man of mystery, adventure and suaveritinessment.

"Women look at me a lot now," I admitted to my dear Mrs. Smoot with a wry grin, my hat tipped slightly to the side.

She looked at me endearingly and said, "Well Indiana, you just remember that you have one Mrs. Smoot at home who loves you a lot."

She had played the "Don't-let-this-thing-go-to-your-head-or-I'll-run-your-tiny-little-hat-through-the-pots-and-pans-cycle-in-the-dishwasher" card. It was enough to smoosh my superficial, inflated ego. So regardless of whether or not my newest fetish causes any female to gaze longingly at my brown, wool head covering, it does manage to serve one practical and "Mrs.-Smoot-approved" function.

It keeps my head warm.

County names new number two staff member for Yolo

Yolo County officials called a press conference last month to announce the selection of Victor Singh as the new assistant county administrative officer.

Singh will join chief administrative officer Roy Pederson at the top rungs of Yolo County administration, and replaces Tom Gardner, who formerly held the assistant's post.

"Vic Singh brings an ideal combination of leadership and managerial skills to the C.A.O.'s office," a county press release quoted Pederson as saying. "As we move toward the 21st century, organizations must continually strive to do more with the resources they have. Vic brings a set of skills to the C.A.O.'s office that will strengthen our role in facilitating the changes necessary to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of Yolo County."

Since 1993, Singh has served as director of the Yolo County Mental Health Services department. He began his Yolo County career as a juvenile hall counselor in 1974, and in the interim had worked as a manager for eight years with Sacramento County Helath and Human Service Programs.

In 1992, he was honored by Yolo's mental health association with a "Bell Award," and in 1996, was named by the Yolo County Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence Center as the "Outstanding Community Member of the Year."

He graduated from Woodland High School and obtained a bachelor's degree from U.C. Davis and master's degree from CSUS. He is married to Debbie (Ramirez) Singh, a court liaison for the West Sacramento Police Dept., and the couple have two children in school in Woodland.

Private schools participate in rally

Students representing approximately forty of the fifty-five Catholic Schools in Northern California united for a rally at the State Capitol on January 29 in honor of Catholic Schools Week. West Sacramento's Our Lady of Grace and Holy Cross Schools participated.

They marched from the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament to the band's tune of "When the Saints Go Marching In." They sang specially-prepared songs.

The Diocesan Superintendent of Schools and State Representative Larry Bowler addressed the crowd.

Prior to disbanding, the congregation filled the sky with millions of soap bubbles as they enthusiastically belted out, "This is My Country!"

Yolo waterfront is subject of talk

Historian Shipley Walters will tell the story of Elkhorn, a 15-mile stretch of the Sacramento River between the American and Feather rivers, at a Yolo Co. Historical Society, 2 p.m. on Feb. 23, at the Davis branch library. The public is welcome.

In the early years of the twentieth century, huge dredges were used to construct the levees and canals that controlled flooding in the Sacramento Valley. New coach at RCHS:

McIntyre takes over Raider program

By Steve Marschke

Rod Massey, River City High School's longtime head football coach, has been replaced.

Starting in the 1997 season, RCHS faculty member Dennis McIntyre will take the position as head of the Raiders' football program.

The change occurred when three River City teachers applied for the $2,264-per-season head coach position in December. Massey, who works off campus and is not a teacher, lost his coaching job because state law gives preference to credentialed teachers for coaching positions.

Massey remains an assistant coach for the school's baseball team.

The new coach, Dennis McIntyre, has taught at the school for two years and has nine years of coaching experience, according to school principal Dr. Donna White. McIntyre has served as head freshman football coach for Granite Bay and Folsom high schools and as a varsity and j.v. coach at Kennedy High School.

Neither McIntyre nor Massey could be reached for comment on the coaching change.

Big win over Lincoln clinches league title

By Chuck Robinson

Last Friday night, the River City High School varsity boys basketball team beat Lincoln to clinch the Golden Empire League Championship. Encina was taken out of first place as they had to forfeit 15 games with three ineligible players.

Last Wednesday, R.C. beat Colfax 58 to 57. Colfax was ahead by one point with seven seconds left. R.C. fouled and Colfax went to the free-throw on a one on one, Colfax missed and Mark Munsinger got the rebound and threw the ball to Brian Sidhu, who dribbled down court and shot a jumper from the free-throw and made the basket at the buzzer to win by the one point.

The leading scorer was Munsinger with 23 points, 6 rebounds, 5 blocked shots, 3 three-pointers; Sidhu, 19 points, 2 three-pointers; Andrew Odor, 11 points, 5 rebounds; and Victor Valdivia, 5 points, 7 rebounds.

Friday night the Raiders slaughtered Lincoln 86 to 44. The first game with Lincoln River City had to go into overtime to beat them. This time they were determined not to let that happen again and wanted to clench the championship so they came out with all guns firing. They took the lead and never looked back. The scoring was led by Odor with 21 points, 3 assists, 7 rebounds; Munsinger, 14 points, 3 assists, 11 rebounds, 6 blocked shots; Victor Mishenko, Valdivia and Freeman Keophet, 9 points each; Sidhu, 6 points; Clancey Dollard, 5 points; Miguel Orozco, 4 points; Chet Perrigo, 4 points; Aba Singh, 3 points; and Will Welcher, 2 points. River City's record in league is 9-1 and 18-8 overall.

J.V.s Split a Pair

River City's junior varsity boys basketball team lost to Colfax 47 to 38. They leading scorer was Malcom Floyd, with 13 points, 7 rebounds, 7 blocked shots; Alfredo Rodriguez, 12 points; Ramphanh Keomek, 5 points; Dominique Alpers, 4 points; Sanjoason Keophet, 4 points.

Friday night the J.V.'s beat Lincoln 63 to 40. The leading scorer was Keomek, 15 points, 5 assists, 5 rebounds, 3 three-pointers; Floyd, 11 points, 13 rebounds, 10 blocked shots; Matt Sidhu, 9 points, 6 rebounds; Rodriguez, 8 points, 6 rebounds; Alpers, 7 points, 4 rebounds; Sekani Perkins, 6 points; Sekeyia Perkins, 5 points; and Keophet, 2 points. J.V.'s record in league is 4-6; overall, 5-17.

This Wednesday, R.C. will play at home against Encina. Game times are 5:30 and 7 p.m. The last league game is Friday at Lindhurst. Game times are 6 and 7:30 p.m.

Signups on Saturday for local 'Dolphin' swim club

The West Sacramento Dolphins Swim Team will be holding the first of three sign-ups for the upcoming 1997 swim season this coming Saturday. Sign-ups will be held at Whitey's Jolly Cone (corner of Jefferson Blvd. and 15th Street) from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost per swimmer is $45 for the season (April 1 through July 31); $40 for the second swimmer; and $20 for each swimmer thereafter (must be from the same family). To register, swimmers must have a copy of their birth certificate.

Leslie Glidden, 9, will be staring her fifth season with the Dolphins.

The Dolphins are a non-profit organization that has served the youth of West Sacramento since 1990.

For additional information, please call Rick or Barbara Usrey (registrars) at 372-3117 or Susan Blacklaw (president) at 371-6053.

The Dolphins will gladly accept any donations towards the team. All donations are tax deductible.

Soccer league seeks new directors for '97

The West Sacramento Soccer Club is seeking new board members for the 1997-98 soccer season. Positions that are open are: club manager; assistant club manager; secretary; registrar. Anyone interested, there will be a general club meeting on Wednesday, February 26, staring at 7:30 p.m. at the Sam Combs Clubhouse on Stone Blvd.

It is very important that these positions be filled, as the new soccer season is coming upon us quickly, and many "before" the season tasks need to be handled. Any questions, call Sarah Najarro at 371-8309 or Hope Anaya at 372-5727.

The Giants and A's are in Phoenix, Arizona, as spring training started for pitchers and catchers, while the rest of the players are scheduled to report on Saturday. It's baseball season!

The Giants will have a new look infield and a couple of new pitchers on the staff. The Giants will feature a completely new infield with J.T. Snow at first base, Jeff Kent at second, Jose Vizciano at shortstop and Mark Lewis or Bill Mueller at third base. Outfielders Barry Bonds and Glenallen Hill are the only two starters returning from last year's team. The Giants also added two new outfielders in Darrin Jackson and Darryl Hamilton.

Doug Henry and Julian Tavarez will join the pitching staff as middle relievers. The Giants picked up Lewis, Tavarez and Kent in the trade that sent Matt Williams to the Cleveland Indians.

The A's added Jose Canseco to their lineup with Mark McGwire as the Bash Brothers are reunited in Oakland. The two should provide some punch to the middle of the order, with Jason Giambi, if they can stay healthy. Both players have visited the disabled list too many times in the last three years. The A's lost some of their punch when Terry Stenback (Twins) and Mike Bordick (Orioles) left the team for free agency. Bordick is going to play shortstop for Baltimore and move Cal Ripken, Jr., to third base. The A's need pitching and have offered ex-Blue Jay Jose Guzman a minor league contract.

Both teams need to start of the season winning to sell tickets, or its going to be another long and disappointing season for Bay Area baseball fans.

The NFL is still in the news, with players jumping teams, as the Steelers lost Chad Brown and Willie Williams to the Seattle Seahawks in free agency defections. They did manage to sign running back Jerome Bettis to a four-year, $14.4 million contract that makes him the NFL's third highest paid running back behind Emmitt Smith and Barry Sanders. But free agency opened the door for the Oakland Raiders to sign QB Jeff George to a five year, $27.5 million dollar contract. George can and will take the Raiders to the playoffs in 1997.

The Raiders also traded back QB Billy Joe Hobert to Buffalo for a third round draft choice and are shopping starting QB Jeff Hostetler to the Steelers. The 49ers are having QB problems themselves, because backup QB Elvis Grabac is scheduled for visits with Kansas City and Chicago. The 49ers have been trying to trade the Seahawks for QB Rick Mirer, but he may end up in Chicago.

Promoter Don Chargin signed Enrique Jupiter (30-6-1, 25 KOs), the WBC's seventh ranked junior featherweight fighter, to a contract to meet West Sac's Willie Jorrin on Thursday, March 20, at the Memorial Auditorium. This is going to be a WAR! Get your tickets early.

See ya next week!!

Kings Corner

By Richard Novoa

The Sacramento Kings (23-29) are at home this week to play the Timberwolves (last night) and the New York Knicks (Ch. 31, 7:30) on Thursday night, which is the NBA's trading deadline. The rumors are still flying around the league that the Kings are looking to make a trade for Richmond. General Manager Geoff Petrie says nothing is in the works, but that's what he said last year when he traded Walt Williams on the trading deadline. This year, the Kings have had numerous inquiries about All Star guard Mitch Richmond, who is third in the league in scoring.

If the Kings are considering trading Richmond, they might as well pack their bags and head out of town, even before the Sacramento City Council, which is still deciding if they want to keep the Kings in town with the loan package, votes next week on a new proposal.

The Kings should package a couple players like Bobby Hurley, Lionel Simmons, Duane Causwell or Michael Smith, or all four, and trade for a point guard or another forward who can shoot from outside.

The Pacers are shopping point guards Mark Jackson and Jalen Rose. Sacramento's own Kevni Johnson is an excellent point guard who is on borrowed time with the Phoenix Suns. He might want to come home and finish his career with the Kings. Another unhappy forward looking for a new home is the Warriors' Chris Mullins.

In other NBA news, the Dallas Mavericks traded their whole team. The Mav's hired Don Nelson as general manager two weeks ago and he traded every player left from last year's team. Talk about cleaning house! He said he didn't like all their attitudes, so he sent five players to New Jersey in what the league is calling one of the largest trades in NBA history. Dallas's record is 17-31.

The Los Angeles Lakers (37-14) lost another starting player when forward Robert Horry sprained his knee and will join Shaquille O'Neil on the sidelines

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Objectivity required

Last week's action by West Sacramento city staff to reject the idea of building a new sewage treatment plant in town will probably stick. It is highly unlikely that the city council would consider overturning this recommendation in the face of some very strong opposition from the public, which understandably does not want to live next door to such a new plant.

So the recommendations to be considered by the council, at least for the moment, are quite simple: either expand the current plant on South River Road, or send the city's wastes across the river, contracting with Sacramento for treatment.

This is a big, complicated, expensive issue, and any estimates of any of the costs involved should be regarded as tentative at best.

But there's one issue most of the public will recognize with one of these alternatives, and one hopes the city is considering it, too. That is, "can West Sacramento run an expanded South River Road plant efficiently?"

It was not too many years ago when West Sacramento's top management was denying that there was anything at all wrong with the South River Road plant to begin with -- right before a chain of events which resulted in a half-million dollars worth of regulatory fines and lawsuit settlements (a chain which has not yet ended).

Since that time, the city has struggled to bring its sewage plant into compliance, given a facility design with some obvious problems and a sewage mixture in West Sacramento that is difficult to treat because its sources are so heavily industrial.

Now, the public is relying on the city to determine if this same plant can be expanded and modified to treat the city's future wastes in a legal, environmentally responsible manner, and if so, how much that will cost.

Let's hope the data being projected by the city is more honest and objective than it was five years ago. A lot will be riding on it.

Letters to the Editor

Looking a gift horse. . .

It puzzles this reader as to why Lighthouse Marina -- now without any future of a marina -- wants to "give" our city 42 acres of "prime riverfront property." Sure, Lighthouse would save $33,000 per year by no longer having to pay taxes on it -- the same $33,000 per year it would cost our City. But why doesn't Lighthouse sell that 42 acres of such valuable property? Would not such a sale put several millions of dollars into Lighthouse's bank account?

Maybe the property is not so valuable after all. An elderly gentleman told me that those 42 acres is more subject to flooding than most folks realize. That could explain why Lighthouse is perhaps unable to market said acreage for a worthwhile sum.

Is it possible that the 42 acres would be suitable interim uses such as a flea market or low-income housing with no first-floor housing (if 2nd-floor housing would be safe).

Speaking of low-income housing and Lighthouse, West Sacramentans are still wondering why 82 of those 90 units built between 6th and 7th and E & F Streets were for "low- and very-low-income" residents displaced by Lighthouse had to be advertised "for rent" in paper(s) across the river. So even if the timing was right, the majority of those displaced would not qualify for the very homes replacing theirs. Built by a "non-profit organization," but apparently for maximum profit. Ironic, huh? Time to redefine NPO's?

WILLIAM A. LOWELL
West Sacramento

Editor's note: the short answer to the question about why Lighthouse wants to donate the land is that it will cost more for them to hold onto it and develop it because of infrastructure needs for the entire project. Selling to another developer would pass along the same problem, making the deal unattractive. If they give it away to the city, they will cheapen the cost of developing the rest of their property, according to city staff.

Obviously, this also raises the question of how much it will cost the city to develop this particular parcel when the time comes. Specific answers have not yet been available.

Thanks for follow-up

Kudos to the News-Ledger for publishing my letter questioning the circumstances surrounding the tragic death of Heidi Ubrick and for the detailed article explaining the position of the police, the city, and the property owner...proving once again that the best cure for misinformation is more information.

I sent the same letter to the West Sacramento Press but it wasn't printed and so far -- no follow-up article on the tragedy. Hopefully this is not a reflection on their journalistic priorities but just a question of being "a day late and a dollar short."

It's good to know that the News-Ledger can be trusted to follow the story until that dangerous rice mill comes crashing to the ground.

HOPE HERR
West Sacramento

From Marna Miller

Question for Chamber of Commerce...a new economic committee for Yolo is being set up and our industries seem to lack representation. There are plenty of reps from Yolo in the initial phase, but again we do not address our own city well enough. Yolo supervisors have not let a race track into the area which would bring loads of tourists and money, seem to help Sacramento's politicians lure businesses to the airbases and Sacramento side, tried putting impacts on the Trucking industry, in order to coerce those industries away, no help has been given to our existing businesses to promote street markets or tourism, but plenty of fees have been initiated for anyone wanting to improve, or even wanting to come to this town. Where is the Chamber's energy going? To help implement regional corporate welfare programs like Sacramento is doing...rather than nurture what's here. Who's paying for this regional drain? Chris Cabaldon brought up this fact at the last council meeting, along with the fact that we are doing just fine without giving them support and funds. Without better representation from our existing industries, I'm wondering why chamber members tolerate this new septic idea?

Design commission concept being bantered about at the Planning Commission last week gave more work to the commission (like they don't have enough stuff to do) and does not address the fact that the planning department needs to do a more competent job rather than leave everything to the commission and public. Professional services or consultants used for this would be more productive, since they now have computer programs with design elements and criteria included. Of course, procuring design concepts from other cites with good criteria would be too efficient and productive for the present planning department. Hiring people who have no degrees in the areas they deal with, or consultants who do not follow orders, like in the case of the Housing Strategy Report, could use some attention in this city.

Regional hook-up of built our own workshop meetings being handled by CH2M Hill are probably the most thorough this city has seen on any project since incorporation. The heated meetings have brought out every possible contingency that could be calculated, putting us in the best informed position to negotiate and make decisions from. This city is finally getting the proper representation on this subject, which is taking into consideration every possible remedy for our future needs.

Pulling information out of the "regional" people, however, is like dealing with an abscess, you have to make sure you take care of the evasions they keep presenting. They said it would cost $18 mil to put in the pipeline but we will get charged $33 mil, and when asked where the difference goes, we heard, "that's regional's business. When asked about the fact that they have not included the amount applied to the tax bills in Sacramento as a point of financial negotiation, no answer was given. When asking why the rush, they said it was important -- to Sacramento. When asked why we should pay for any of it, since it will save the encroachments, there was little information. There was no calculation as to what deregulation would do. There was no mention of the "no benefit to us" for losing control of $10 mil a year to another county and city. Loosing the salaries, which are substantial, loosing the jobs, not having the control of the money except for one to nine votes. West Sacramento gets shortchanged everytime it joins the region. The older areas which do not need any change for the next ten years, need to wonder where their representation is. Southport is not the voting majority in this town.

Whatever we do, this has been an extremely good analysis and study. Even with its shortcomings, which are still being addressed, so that the council will have everything it needs to decide, knowing that for once, this city is engaging competently and uncovering every strategy possible to gain the best position to attach this problem to a positive solution for this city.

I would equate it to the application of the Chinese art of strategy, or the Christian adage of knowing the wiles of the devil, or the enlightened stance of learning from history, that this time, we have some good irons in the fire ready to put our mark where it belongs.

The Ordinances and fee structuring were discussed last council meeting. THEY GET IT. Extensive discussion about changing the punitive fees for improving your home and upgrading made the rounds with every councilperson. The staff was asked to review many points and come up with some better "triggers" for fees so that the public would be better served by the process. This may seem trivial to some, but when you buy a house and have a child in an area you can afford and then are told you will be charged thousands to improve your home, it takes on a whole new light. This will be further discussed at an upcoming meeting, if you wish to put in your two cents. Bill brought up the carport and garage issue for the older parts of town, and hopefully people will be given a way of putting these in without having a two-year fight with the planning department.

After the words of staff members a week ago, about the "strategies" of needing to implement methods of financing everything so that they may "get around" prop 218, and then hearing opposition to this attitude from the "public," it appeared that the council took on a whole new attitude of responsibility this last cession. It may be helped by the talk shows "trashing" Sacramento politicians for their flagrant lack of responsibility to the taxpayers. It may be people are getting more involved in the priority setting discussions with council members. It only matters that their attention to responsibility over our well being has increased.

School board members were given information about methods of funding for the district and the low-income housing project impacts. Ardeen Westvik didn't want to hear it, but later complained about not having enough money. Anybody out there interested in helping our schools and city is welcome to come to the Maple/Holly Steering Committee meetings on the third Tuesday of each mo;nth, or call Mary Quirantes at 372-7218 about getting the same information so that they may run for school board the next time around.

Saying this gets easy when you hear a committee head admonish the school board for not following their own criteria and wasting teachers time. It seems that committees were set up to discuss One Time Money for each facility. Then the board went ahead and spent it where they wanted, ignoring the individual committees. Why not just do what you want in the first place, rather than try to look concerned and ethical, at least people would think you had a spine.

It reeked of the Lighthouse Marina Project fiasco, where public time was wasted when there would be no compliance to mandates anyway. Go figure. Going to meetings arms you with information. It does not mean that anyone listens. It does mean that you will be able to voice more intelligent arguments or support for issues. And, it appeases your conscience. Silence being equal to conscent, the silent majority has reaped what it condescends to.

Speaking of "con's," Washington "renaming" programs to act like they are creating cures, like the so called 86 tax reform bill which has created many problems for school funding and city general funds for police, fire, etc., is not even being discussed by anyone. Clinton, Gwnet, your name is of no consequence, a

TO THE CITIZENS OF WEST SACRAMENTO

The Daniel C. Palamidessi Bridge & Industrial Blvd. Extension Project is over 50% complete. A construction closure of Industrial Blvd. between Terminal to Cebrian Streets will be made to provide for sanitary, storm, and street reconstruction. This closure will also affect the current intersection of Stone Blvd. and Industrial Blvd. This map shows how to access City Hall, Stone Blvd., and Harbor Blvd.

IF YOU ARE TRYING TO GET TO CITY HALL OR STONE BLVD. FROM HARBOR OR INDUSTRIAL, you will need to turn onto Del Monte from Harbor Blvd. or turn onto Terminal Street from Industrial Blvd. You will then intersect with Cebrian Street and go South to Stone Blvd. and City Hall. This is a permanent change. After the project is complete it will not be possible to make a left turn from Industrial to access City Hall and Stone Blvd.

IF YOU NEED TO GET TO INDUSTRIAL BOULEVARD OR STONE BOULEVARD FROM JEFFERSON, you will need to use Stone Blvd. Turn right onto Cebrian, and then proceed to either Terminal Street or Harbor Blvd. After the project is complete, you will be able to make a right turn from Stone Blvd. onto Industrial Blvd.

Completion of all construction is scheduled for late this summer. Should you have any questions please call Brown & Root Building Company, the City's Construction Manager for this project, at 375-6666.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered twenty-two feet eight inches, Unted States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. Somehow, it gladdens the heart of the resident of this section of Yolo County to gaze on the majestic sweep of the Sacramento River as it flows downstream and this feeling is enhanced by the fact that for several winters past the river was a sickly looking brook in comparison with what it is this year. Nobody in Yolo County, or at least in this section of Yolo County, was hurt by the late flood and that is no small consolation, especially because other sections of the state and even Sacramento County were badly damaged by flooding.

W. F. Rhoton, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Rhoton of West Sacramento, joined the medical corps of the United States army in San Francisco last Saturday. He selected the medical corps as the place where he thought he would be most satisfied and where he would make the most headway. He will be stationed at the Presidio at San Francisco and will be a frequent visitor with his folks here.

Yesterday evening an automobile, a touring car, while proceeding westward on the road to Riverbank, got off the highway near the Joseph Dairy and turning over threw two occupants of the car out on the road where they were not seriously injured. From a spark from the battery a gasoline tank caught fire and the car was entirely consumed. The owner's name could not be ascertained because the driver of the car made his escape. The license plates could not be identified last night and the identification tag in the front of the car was entirely consumed. It is understood that the glaring headlights of an automobile proceeding toward Sacramento confused the driver of the burned car, causing him to leave the road and upset the car.

McNally & Partridge of the West Side Auto Camp are now getting ready to install larger gas pumps at their service station in the camp. They declare that already a great increase is noticed in the number of tourists who are traveling and every night their camp is filled to the doors. When the state highway is completed to the M street bridge they expect a great increase in travel.

Joe Pereira and wife went to San Francisco last Wednesday morning for a few days' rest. The trip was made in the family automobile and they were expected to return to their home last night. The West Sacramento Auto Camp, operated by Mr. Pereira, reports every cottage in the camp filled with standing room only as the order for every evening.

Frazer & Doyle are now installing a tire service station on Fifth street. They are going to have a large supply of tires of many makes on hand with a complete stock to fill any order that may come along. While carrying several makes of tires, they expect to specialize on the Federal cord tire, and judging from prices they are now quoting, there will be no necessity for any automobile owner in Washington or this section of Yolo County to go to Sacramento for their tires. Their new stock will be in place in a day or two, when an extra man will be added to their force to look after auto owners.

Last Monday Frank Brazil swore to a warrant for the arrest of Louis Silva on a charge of battery, which was committed on him in the vicinity of the bean warehouse in West Sacramento last Saturday. Brazil was badly battered, with several teeth knocked out and a pair of black eyes and a bloody nose. Judge Barry fined Silva thirty dollars, which he paid immediately. Silva claimed before the fracas that Brazile stole $45 from Mrs. Silva and being unable to get back the money took the price out in a good drubbing which he administered to Brazil.

In his Dodge coupe, Mike Steinauer, one of the force of workers at the Monument Ranch, was noticed on the highway yesterday on his way to San Francisco, and accompanied by a lady. Rumors have been current lately that Mike anticipated doing something for himself and settling down in a happy little home, but these could not be verified. However, a lady in his coupe on the way to San Francisco is an evidence that something is doing and that perhaps the stories being told along the river and in Washington about Mike are true. He is known to be a lady's man, or rather a lady-killer, and certainly the indications go a long way toward presuming that Mike has something in his head of which he has said very little to his friends and neighbors.

Mrs. C. A. Newton is now located on the shore of San Francisco Bay in the vicinity of Palo Alto. Several days ago her sons, Charles and Tom, went down and built her a temporary home near the shore so that she might enjoy the open in recovering from an operation which she underwent lately. She is a close neighbor to her daughter, Mrs. Wetherbee, and consequently will have company during the long winter evenings.

Mrs. O. P. George, Mrs. Van Deren and their mother, Mrs. Sherman, with several other friends, expect to make a trip to Chico next Sunday, provided the weather permits.

A. E. Berry has been in Douglas, Arizona, during the past three weeks, and judging from word received from him by his wife yesterday, he has made up his mind to remain for some considerable time. He has secured a good position in a foundry and being very close to the Mexican border, he wants to remain just on account of the liberty that prevails across the international line.

Eddie Steuben has just recovered from a spell of pneumonia, with which he was confined to his home for two weeks under the care of his father, who was laid up at the same time with a broken thumb. The boy has returned to school, but the father is still nursing the broken bone.

Joseph Shaw, who has been gradually declining for some time past, has lately shown severe effects of his sickness. He has reduced greatly in weight and is frequently forced to take to his bed. Lately he suffered with a severe cold and this, too, added to his debility.

Mrs. Reinersman is still confined to her bed and is suffering considerably with the maladies of old age. She has the constant attention of her daughter, Mrs. P. A. Hart, but has made no material improvement.

The Bryte Circle of the Presbyterian Church will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. D. L. Freese.

Rev. W. E. Story, Mrs. Hayward Reed, Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mrs. S. Adams and E. Julian attended the convention of the Sacramento Presbytery held in Davis last Tuesday.

The sum of $40 was raised Friday night towards the erection of the Bryte Community Church at a necktie-apron box social in the school.

Mrs. Byron Williams has returned home after having been confined to a Sacramento hospital.

Floyd Cook has returned to Napa after a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cook.

After a short stay here as the guest of friends, Mrs. Josephine Wood returned to Davis.

Mrs. Hattie Stewart spent the week-end in San Francisco visiting her son, Ralph, who is confined to a hospital there.

Miss Helen Dassonville is recovering from a recent serious illness.

The young daughter of Constable and Mrs. Frank Wilson Saturday suffered a painful burn on her arm while playing at her home.

Miss Ardella Manchester spent the week-end in San Francisco visiting her brother, Blair Manchester.

SUBSTANTIAL BRICK BUILDING IS BEING ERECTED BY CHINESE

On Second street, near the M street bridge, yesterday the foundation was being excavated for a building measuring 50x75 feet that will be built of brick within the coming month.

The property on which this building is being erected was purchased by Helen Louie from the O'Connor & Harbinson estate a week ago.

Helen Louie is a native born Chinese girl, her father also being a native born Californian.

This new building is not of the flimsy character of the other buildings along Second street that were lately erected by Chinese. Its total cost will run into the neighborhood of $10,000 and it will be used for stores or dwellings, as the owners see fit to use them, or as the Chinese have been accustomed to use such buildings in Sacramento for many years past.

Outside of the fact that the building is a substantial one and that it is being built to stay, little could be learned by the Independent from the owner.

Contractor Best of Sacramento was the successful bidder to erect the building and it will be rushed to completion by a large force of men.

KINDLY ADVICE OFFERED SHERIFF MONROE BY RE RISO

In a letter dated February 15 and published in the Woodland Mail on February 18, Vincent DeRiso, a well-known resident of Washington, writes to Sheriff Monroe offering some good advice.

Evidently Sheriff Monroe turned the letter over to the Woodland Mail for publication and herewith the Independent copies the latter for the edification of its readers.

The letter reads:

Broderick, Feb. 15.

Mr. J. W. Monroe, Sheriff.

Dear Sir: In behalf of myself and other taxpayers in Washington, in behalf of law and order, I beg to ask, what are you going to do about these Chinese gambling dens?

They, the Chinese, are violating state laws, as you are aware.

We don't expect you to make any raids, we don't expect you to hail them into court for a fine of a few hundred dollars; that is only a joke to them.

What we expect you to do is to close them up. ORDER them to close up, tell the BIG CHIEF to CLOSE UP, and stay closed.

I am yours truly,

VINCENT De RISO,

Box 158 620 Fourth, Broderick.

First Move Started To Fill Washington to the Grade of Front Levee and the Grade of Souhern Pacific Embankment

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters' Club last Tuesday night the suggestion was offered and was quickly taken up by every member of the club to fill the town of Washington to the grade of the Front street levee or the grade of the Southern Pacific embankment on Anne street.

The suggestion made by the writer was instantly recognized as being the best move that could possibly be made to bring the town of Washington into its own.

Several years ago when a similar offer was made it was turned down, mostly because of the objection of some property owners to the expense that would be incurred in raising their buildings. Because of a few objections the proposal went by and nothing has since been done to bring about better conditions.

Every property owner in the town recognizes that until the streets and lots are filled to a level with the Southern Pacific embankment on Anne street there will always be a deterring element to advancement. This is shown by the fact that the state highway commission has routed the highway to connect with the M street bridge instead of the Southern Pacific bridge. The principal objection to connecting the road with the Southern Pacific bridge was the grades and swales that would have to be overcome by filling.

In the near future the state highway commission will use a suction dredger in the river to fill the borrow pit north of the Sacramento Northern embankment as a location for the state highway that will lead to the M street bridge.

When that suction dredger is at work filling the borrow pit, it might be utilized, also, to fill the streets and lots of Washington at very small expense to the taxpayer. The work of pumping sand and water through the means of a suction dredger is very small, averaging, it is reported, about 30 cents per cubic yard.

If the services of the dredger can be secured for that price in moving sand from the river bed to the property and streets of Washington, the total amount would not be very great.

The average lot measuring 40x160 feet could be filled to a depth of six feet with sand at a cost of about $100, provided the price for moving the sand did not exceed 30 cents per cubic yard.

When the suction dredger was filling the embankment for the Southern Pacific tracks on Anne street in 1911, the offer was made to the property owners that the dredger then in use would fill the town at a cost of 3 cents per cubic yard.

Allowing 30 cents per cubic yard for the filling, the cost of filling a lot 40x160 feet to a depth of six feet would be less than $100.

But since it is not the lots alone that must be filled, the expense will naturally grow. All the streets must be filled and it is in this connection that other elements might be brought in to help in the filling.

It is a well known fact that the federal government and the state government appropriate each year a vast amount of money for river improvement. Most of that money has been spent lately in the effort to uncork the Sacramento River at Rio Vista.

During last summer a great deal of money was spent by the Southern Pacific Company in an effort to keep the channel clear, especially fronting the Southern Pacific wharf.

The Sacramento Navigation Company and the Sacramento Transportation Company also spent considerable money to keep thec channel clear.

Both rice mills and the bean warehouse in West Sacramento also did considerable dredging to keep the river clear to their wharves.

Then again the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district has been receiving vast amounts of money for reclamation purposes for several years.

Lastly, the Sacramento Northern Railway is an interested party in this connection.

Were all these interests united in an effort to clear the river in the vicinity of Sacramento to a considerable depth, the cost of dredging the sand to fill the town of Washington could easily be met.

In this filling a gradual slope could be made westward from the Front street levee so that a free flow of surface water could be had at all times.

Then again, it would be an easy matter to lay sewers in this filled sand and the question of filling the town of Washington would be made easy, not only to the property owners for the filling of their lots and the raising of their homes, but to the interested parties above mentioned in the effort to clear the Sacramento River for navigation purposes in the vicinity of Sacramento.

It is an acknowledged fact that any expense by the individual property owner of Washington for this purpose would not only return two-fold in increased property values, but would return many times in the values that could be placed on properties now established.

As long as Washington stays in the mud with swales and grades as they stand today, there cannot be much improvement.

If the town were filled, the lots as well as the streets, property values approximating those asked near Front street in Sacramento would be enhanced, and regular grades could be established so that home owners might build sidewalks and streets that would be permanent.

As it is at the present time it is useless for a property owner to lay a concrete walk in front of his property. Next year the grade may be changed.

The members of the Boosters' Club determined last Tuesday evening that they would go out among their friends to boost this scheme or at least to talk it up so that a practical solution of the question might be arrived at.

It will be remembered that a few years ago when the West Sacramento Company was organized a great suction dredger was sold to an Oakland firm and was used for several years filling mud flats on the water front of Oakland.

Perhaps that dredger is still in existence and might be used again, but at any rate the work done by that dredger remains today in the shape of levees around West Sacramento that are practically impregnable to floods and stand a monument to the efficiency of this kind of work.

Talk it up.

MAINS' NAME WILL APPEAR ON TABLETS OF FLYERS' CLUB

Through an oversight on the part of somebody, the name of Charles D. Mains was omitted from the tablets of Yolo heroes who died during the world war.

These tablets were procured by the Yolo Flyers' Club and are about to be placed in the club house as a lasting memento to those who made the great sacrifice during the war.

Mains was born and raised in Washington and met death in the field of action, but through the oversight his name was omitted from the honorary list of the flyers' club.

Through the efforts of Supervisor Henry Buckingham and Probation Officer A. A. Powers, the matter has been rectified and Mains' name now appears on the tablets with the list of heroes of Yolo County who gave their life blood in the cause of Democracy.

BURNED AUTO FOUND NEAR THE HEADQUARTERS OF WEST SACRAMENTO

On the levee road just south of the old Kripp home near West Sacramento headquarters last Sunday morning Constable Frank Wilson found an automobile sedan practically ruined from a fire that had started in the machine.

The car had been stolen from in front of the Travelers Hotel in Sacramento and was left parked at the location where it was burned.

From information obtained by Constable Wilson and the Sacramento police, it appears that the car was the property of Mrs. Merton Bell of Butte City.

The wreck has been removed.

SLOT MACHINES OUT OF BUSINESS IN WASHINGTON

Slot machines went out in Washington Monday as they did in Woodland last week. This is following out the request of District Attorney George T. Kern who ordered all gaming devices and punch boards out of commission in Yolo County, following complaint from one father that his son was squandering money on them.

6% Loans Under Reserve System on city or farm property. Reserve Deposit Company, 72 Fourth Street, Portland, Ore.

Cash Paid For False Teeth, platinum, discarded jewelry and old gold. Hoke Smelting & Refining Co., Otsego, Michigan.

YOLO OFFICIALS GUESTS OF M'ANULTYS MONDAY

From the Woodland Democrat has been clipped a story relating to the fact that the officials of Yolo County were guests last Monday of the McAnultys of West Sacramento.

The story reads:

Woodland, Feb. 16.—Members of the Yolo County board of supervisors and the board of trade, along with a group of county officials and newspaper representatives, were guests today of T. D. McAnulty at the latter's new townsite, Westgate, formerly known as West Sacramento and located in Yolo County at the river's edge.

Construction of the first of a unit of seventy-five or more homes in Westgate started last week by the McAnulty Brothers interests of St. Paul and Los Angeles.

Today's meeting of the county officials was asked by McAnulty in order that the supervisors might be more familiar with the public needs of that section, and with the plans of the McAnulty's.

In addition to promoting the sale of lots and homes in the new townsite through offices in Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco and other sections of the state and in the Middle West, a modern business section to the north and west of the main tract and facing on the Davis highway is under way.

Although the first house was begun only last week, seven more are scheduled to be erected this month, with an increasing number as the demand grows. Restrictions have been placed in various parts of the tract, which run from $2,000 to $5,000. Most of the homes under construction are of the $3,500 class and will be of brick, concrete or stucco.

It is McAnulty's plan to market the tract among artisans, tradesmen and skilled mechanics in all trades. He said:

"I find that far too many of the men working in Sacramento are not home owners. They are good men with good trades and should be made a permanent part of the community. They cannot afford to go after expensive homes, and most cannot make large payments down.

"It is my hope that 1,000 such people can be settled in Westgate each year."

The tract consists of 1,000 acres in the townsite, with 3,000 acres adjoining suitable to suburban homes and small farms. The land is being purchased by the McAnulty interests in blocks of 250 acres under a contract with the bond holders of the old West Sacramento Land Company.

Before coming to Yolo County to promote the settlement of Westgate, McAnulty investigated Richmond, but after a comparison of the two places decided upon Sacramento and Yolo Counties because of the industrial development possibilities.

Among those who attended the luncheon today were:

Supervisors W. O. Russell, S. Gladney, Henry Buckingham, L. E. Hutchings, and F. B. Edson, and C. A. Covell, E. H. Archer, N. E. Hughes, F. L. Morris, H. Van Tassel and Fred Shaffer, members of the Yolo County Board of Trade; Roy Cole, county treasurer, J. D. Harling of the Bank of Italy; A. G. Proctor, county engineer; Attorney H. L. Huston and press representatives of Woodland.

T. D. McAnulty, a member of the firm of McAnulty Brothers, promoters and brokers, extended the invitation on behalf of the Mercantile Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco, who have taken over the project with a view to colonizing the lands.

Lately we have been hearing very little of Billy Sunday.

And what has become of Rev. Dr. Bristol and Rev. Frank Kline Baker and several others who infested Sacramento some time ago?

Police log

Feb. 16, 7:50 a.m.

A 32-year old woman admitted being the driver of a stolen car found by officers and was arrested. She also had warrants out of Sacramento and a quantity of marijuana in her purse.

Feb. 16, 9 a.m.

A 30-year old woman and her 19-year old boyfriend rented an Orchard St. apartment to which officers responded investigating a stolen car. They found numerous people on site drinking, including two minors. They found marijuana, over 50 empty 40 oz. beer bottles, methamphetamines and drug paraphernalia. The tenants were cited and released.

Feb. 17, 9:38 a.m.

The landlord of a California St. residence reported a female tenant had been evicted but was still living in the dwelling with a baby. The electricity had been shut off and part of the ceiling was falling down. Officers were advised that process servers were on scene, and advised the woman to leave.

Feb. 17, 9:46 a.m.

Two car tires were reported slashed the previous night on Hickory Way.

Feb. 17, 10:50 a.m.

An officer saw a 45-year old female riding a bike the wrong way on 5th St. She was on searchable probation, and an officer searched her apartment, finding three rocks of cocaine and a rock pipe in an end table. The woman was booked.

Feb. 17, 11:07 a.m.

At Harbor Blvd. and Sunset Ave., seven juveniles were reported to be skateboarding down a hill, causing vehicles to swerve around them.

Feb. 17, noon

A multi-vehicle accident was reported at Park and Jefferson boulevards. Several people were injured.

Feb. 17, 1:19 p.m.

Neighbors reported three 4th St. boys were in their yard shooting pellet guns into the sky, and the caller was concerned about someone getting hurt. A police officer responding could not get into the yard because of large dogs on the property.

Feb. 17, 2:57 p.m.

An officer was dispatched to afight between a male and female on 6th St. The 19-year old male attempted to fight the officer, swinging and making numerous threats, and was pepper sprayed and booked.

Feb. 17, 3:13 p.m.

A possibly insane woman called police to report an alarm going off at a West Capitol business. When asked for further detail, she replied, "I don't want to get shot," and hung up.

School board actions

Among actions and discussions at the February 11 meeting of the Washington Unified School District board of education were the following:

A presentation on the Parenting Program at Yolo High School was given by Barbara Ray, Faculty School of Education and Human Resources, National University and two students.

Marna Miller, spokesperson for Maple Holly Steering Committee, addressed the board on school financing and the impacts of the present amount of affordable housing projects in the city.

Rishi Sharma, student board representative, gave an activity report on the schools in the district.

Approved regular school board meeting minutes of Tuesday, January 28.

Approved the following recommended routine and consent items: summary of purchase orders exceeding $3,000.00; purchase order report -- January, 1997.

The board heard a presentation on class size reduction from Constantine Baranoff, director of facilities, Elk Grove Unified School District, having to do with both the facilities aspect and the implications on budget in the area of personnel that takes place when a district implements class size reduction. Also, announced that a special meeting on this topic will be held on Wednesday, February 19, in the River City High School Library at 7 p.m.

Appointed Carol Davis, parent, and Ellen Eggman, teacher, to the special education advisory committee.

Approved the revised application for funding consolidated categorical aid for 1996-97, as presented.

Approved resolution no. 967-17, allocation of one-time money funds received under AB 3488, as submitted.

Heard a summary report on the governor's state budget that he presented on January 9, 1997.

Approved resolution no. 967-16 to secure lease purchase financing for a seven-year period to provide moneys in the approximate amount of $55,000 + 10% for contingencies and authorize the Lease Agreement, the Signatories and the Notice of Intent to Be Reimbursed.

Heard a report on the first period attendance report (P-1) ending December 31, 1996. The report has been sent to the State Department. A summary of CBEDS enrollment counts and ADA history was also given.

The 1997-98 budget planning calendar was approved.

Approved policy and regulation 4119.1.1 on a first hearing basis and agreed to place it on the next regular meeting of the board for a second hearing.

As required, publicly disclosed costs for a tentative agreement with CSEA. The provision assures that the public is aware of the costs associated with a tentative collective bargaining agreement before it becomes binding on the district.

Approved the tentative agreement with CSEA riverview chapter #168 for the 1996-97 school year.

Approved recommendation of administrative panel concerning student #0217.

Approved both certificated and classified personnel recommendations, as presented, with additions.

concerned about where the city council at that time had its priorities."

Montemayor said he could foresee only one circumstance that would cause the council to overrule city staff and begin looking again at building a new West Sacramento sewage plant.

"There's only one factor that I could see make staff go back to those rejected alternatives, and that is if there was a major change in public support," he said.

Montemayor added that the issue remains far from decided, even though some unpopular choices have apparently been ruled out.

The two remaining choices -- those of expanding the city's troublesome South River Road plant or hooking up to Sacramento -- are "two hot potato options," he said.

Councilman Christopher Cabaldon said he was pleased not only with the direction being taken by city staff, but with the amount of homework done by residents who have shown up to ask questions of them.

"People are taking a real good, objective look at this," said Cabaldon. "They didn't just come to the meeting to say, 'I don't want a new sewage plant in my backyard,' which wouldn't be unreasonable, but which wouldn't be helpful as far as making the best decision for the city. They were asking detailed questions. I was amazed at the folks in attendance."

The issue will go before the city council for additional "direction" for city staff on Feb. 5.

LETTERS from p. 5

power player by any other name still smells bad. Welfare programs now are called the "Gain" program, or "Affordable Housing" or more colorful things. However, they actually give more tax dollars away to individuals or corporations without "benefitting the community as a whole." Voters notice, but the politicians have created a system that allows for diversions and complication in order to ward off public understanding. The public is so afraid of not being liked that they rather be financially abused than demand explanations and visible solutions. Sainthood is a rating for the accomplished dead, robinhood is a man who robbed from the rich and gave to the poor, politicians are people who steal your tax dollars to give only to those who will propetuate their forward motion -- not your rights.

Apple pie and hot coffee in the morning while the sun still shines over my flag waving attitude may be corny to some, but there are too many dead veterans in my family to take these things lightly. Even at recent meetings, while people are huffing and puffing because they don't want any ideas discussed but theirs and scream because they can't bully their way through the process, give me pause.

This is America folks, the land of the free speech amendment. Agree or not, negative and positive poles are what make using a consensus of public opinion the healthy way of gathering information for better decisions. Opposition to my way of thinking only makes me think better. Opposition to others would have you bullied into submission if you didn't know where you were going. Look where you're stepping and where you are going and you won't need to hose off your shoes. And, may the shoe polish of your choice replenish the wear and tear of your walk.

What's New at the Library?

Losing It: America's Obsession with Weight and the Industry That Feeds on It.* Laura Fraser. Dutton Book. 311 pages.

From Dexatrim ads to Jenny Craig Centers, we are constantly reminded of our fixation to be thin. Veteran journalist Laura Fraser presents a well documented account of the diet industry and shows how its Dietland profiteers are the "biggest hucksters since P.T. Barnum." She chronicles the growth of the diet industry from weight-loss centers to commercial diet scams. She suggests that they offer businesses huge profits and participants false hopes.

The Wolf Strain: A Western Trio.* Max Brand. Five Star. 218 pages.

Although western writer Max Brand was killed during World War II, his tales of western adventure, romanticism, and the inclusion of animal characters remains popular. In this collection of reissued works including "Bared Fangs," "Gallows Gamble," and "The Wolf Strain: A Bull Hunter Story," the author creates three short-stories of western excitement.

No Time to Say Goodbye: Surviving the Suicide of a Loved One.* Carla Fine. Doubleday. 248 pages.

In this moving examination of the "last taboo," Carla Fine writes of the loss and healing process involved in losing a loved one to suicide. Her frank discussion of the feelings of guilt, confusion, and shame of those left behind is based on conversations with suicide survivors. Her own feelings are also explored, since she lost her husband to suicide. Fine offers the living support form their grief and despair after death.

Criminal Justice.* Barbara Parker. Dutton. 304 pages.

Dan Galindo had it all. A respected position with the U.S. Attorney's Office, a beautiful wife and son, and a promising future. That was before his ethical integrity cost him his legal career. The bestselling author of Suspicion of Innocence, Suspicion of Guilt, and Blood Relations once again examines the sultry Miami scene, this time intertwining Galindo with a million-dollar money-laundering scheme, a ruthless DEA agent, and murder.

Jack Hanna's Ultimate Guide to Pets.* Jack Hanna with Hester Munndis. G.P. Putnam's Sons. 248 pages.

Informative, entertaining, and helpful best describes this practical guide for selecting, caring for, and raising a pet. Naturalist and host of the popular television show Jack Hanna's Animal Adventures, Jack Hanna provides readers with valuable reference to "pet basics." Discussions include grooming and dietary needs, selecting a pet that fits your lifestyle, and choosing a veterinarian.

Bullseye: Stories and Poems by Outstanding High School Writers.* Mark Pawlak, et al. (eds.). Hanging Loose Press. 243 pages.

Bullseye continues the tradition to recognize the talents of high school authors and poets as first begun in Smart Like Me. Enjoy this wonderful collection of outstanding pieces penned by some of our nation's most creative young writers. You'll be impressed!

Waking the Tempests: Ordinary Life in the New Russia.* Eleanor Randolph. Simon & Schuster. 389 pages.

"After Communism in the Soviet Union came chaos," suggests journalist Eleanor Randolph. While ordinary Russians were liberated from its constraints in 1992, most continue to struggle to survive the transition from Communism to Capitalism. Interviewing everyone from ballerinas to bakers, Randolph explains the difficulty Russians are experiencing with their new-found freedom.

KINGS' CORNER from p. 3

for at least six weeks. Rookie guard Nick Van Exel was quoted last week in the Los Angeles Times saying that he not only guarantees the Lakers will win the Western Conference Title, but if they don't win the division, he'll buy every member of the Seattle Sonics (36-15) team a gift valued $100. Van Excel received a few calls from the Seattle players asking if he could send a catalog to Seattle, so they could look for some $100 items to order as their gifts in April!

This is a good example of a player who let his alligator mouth overload his canary behind! It should be interesting to see if Nick can back up his words and lead the Lakers to the division crown without Shaq.

Tickets for Kings games this week are still available by calling BASS ticket outlets. Or stop by at the Arco Arena box office.
